

Message

From: Andrea Amico [abrown3@worchester.edu]
Sent: 5/28/2018 6:24:01 AM
To: Personal Email / Ex. 6
Subject: Correction for PFAS Article

Hi Ken,

Thank you for writing a story on the EPA National PFAS Summit.

I read the story and feel you have misquoted me when you write:

"I met with Scott Pruitt for 15 minutes," Amico said, "and he had the answers ahead of time. He said the report will come out soon, but didn't commit a date."

Just to be clear, Administrator Pruitt did NOT say to me in my meeting with him that the report will come out soon. He told me he does not have the authority to release the study as the report is from another federal agency (which is consistent with the following paragraph where you quote Pruitt as saying " To be clear, the EPA does not have the authority to release this study."

However, Dr Patrick Breysse, Director of ATSDR, said during the summit that the report would be released "soon" when I asked him about it directly during a Q&A session.

I feel what you reported and quoted me as saying is incorrect and untrue and I request that you please make the correction in the story.

Thank you,
Andrea Amico